Department of Philosophy

Survey on ‘ecological crises in and around Panaji’. 15 students of Philosophy Department had organized an ecological survey where the teacher Miss Sendra Pereira along with the students actively participated in witnessing the polluted areas and questioning the local residents on the problems faced by them due to the environmental problems.

The Ecological Survey was on 19 February 2017 in areas like Chimbél, Mercedes, Santa Cruz and other local and public places of Panaji like ktc bus stand, Panaji market etc.

Many issues were brought forward and thus the environmental depletion was noted and will be shown in this report. KTC bus stand was the first place visited ; the area was crowded along with garbage gathered in every single corner of the area.

In spite of the dust bins available around still people misused the public area and garbage was seen around everywhere.

Sulabh was also there on the bus stand but the conductors as well as the educated people were seen urinating in the corners and thus made the area stinky and unbearable.

Street Play on Garbage Issues

23rd February 2017 Department of Philosophy organized a street play Awareness programme on garbage issues in Goa. 18 Philosophy students with the teacher Ms Sendra Pereira organized a street play creating awareness in nearby areas affected by garbage issues. This awareness programme was held specially as a social responsibility after realizing and studying the ecological issues in this particular areas. Locals of this area were made realize that its individuals duty to keep their surroundings clean and protect the environment as in long and short run going to affect their health. Through the street play the students created awareness about various health problems caused by this garbage issues. The street play was performance also focused on the fact that it should be collective work of locals to come together n detail with this problems. The street play was performed at major garbage affected areas around Panaji that is Panaji ktc bus stand, and Panjim market ,Chimbel, Mercedes, etc. The awareness programme was organized as a social responsibility of students to society and environment.

Department of English

The Department of English, Dhempe College of Arts and Science, established an internship program with National Association for the Blind, St. Cruz, Goa. A group of 20 students visited the centre for five consecutive Sundays in February and March 2018. The interns organised various activities for the NAB students including singing competitions, sports related activities and dance sessions. They also interacted on a one-to-one basis with the students. Tara Saldanha was the internship coordinator for the program.

The aim of this internship is to establish a social consciousness and inculcate in the interns a concern and respect for the differently abled. Each intern was required to maintain a work log of each visit which was submitted at the end of the program. To successfully complete the internship, each intern was required to complete a minimum of 4 hours.

The program was met with an enthusiastic response from the college students who took up planning and organising activities for each visit under the guidance of the faculty in charge. The administration at NAB, Goa also expressed their gratitude and praise for this initiative which is working to encourage inclusive education and social concern.

Department Of Economics

The Department of Economics organized an extension activity on Financial literacy among rural women. The extension service was conducted by incorporating the students of FYBA DSC Economics. The objective of having such an extension service was to share basic financial knowledge among the women of rural villages who somehow are often excluded from the financial perspective. The extension service would make them more aware and independent.

The students had to select at least 5 women from their neighborhood and make them financially literate. The service was provided first in a village named Kamrabad in Tonca by HridyaSudarshan and ManaswiniChavariya. The aim of the extension service was first to find out how many women in that village did not have a bank account and thereby informing them about the importance of having one. The students spoke to 10 women from that village from which 5 did not have any bank accounts. The students later educated the women on the importance and advantages of having a bank account and how one should or can operate it.

The second extension service was conducted in Chorao village by Yogini. She spoke to 5 women from her neighborhood and informed them about the schemes that banks provide and how they can be benefited from the same. Yogini also made the women aware about the key highlights of the Union budget 2018 by focusing on which consumer goods henceforth will be more expensive and which one will be cheaper.

ACADEMIC EXTENSION

1) Workshop for students of colleges in Goa on “Citation, Referencing and Bibliography as per MLA 8th Edition”

The Department of English, in collaboration with Research Cell, Dhempe College of Arts and Science, conducted a One-Day State Level Workshop on “Citation, Referencing and Bibliography as per MLA 8th Edition” on August 22, 2019, in the Seminar Hall of the college. The workshop was organized in a view of acquainting the students of languages with the skill of conducting research and usage of MLA 8th Edition stylesheet in in-text citation and bibliography in the project reports. A total of nine colleges from all over Goa were represented by 32 students for this workshop. All the TYBA English students (General and Honours, 35) of Dhempe College also participated in this workshop.

The workshop was inaugurated by Principal, Dr. Vrinda Borker. She welcomed the gathering and stressed on the need to conduct research in a systematic manner. Ms. Clarinda Dias, In-charge, Department of English, addressed the gathering and introduced the theme of the workshop. She also informed the students about the resource persons whose expertise they were going to get benefitted from in the course of the day. Dr. Wendy Manual, Convenor, Research Cell was also present on the dais on this occasion.

The following is the itinerary of the workshop:

10.00 a.m. to 11.00 a.m. SESSION ONE The Purpose of Research, Formulating Hypothesis, Research Methodology – Designing Aim and Objectives, Conducting Literature Survey, Delineating Limitations, Resourcing Information from different mediums.

- 11.15 a.m. to 12.15 p.m. SESSION TWO Avoiding Plagiarism towards Ethical Research
- 12.15 p.m. to 1.00 p.m. SESSION THREE Intellectual Property Rights – Relevance and Rubrics
- 2.00 p.m. to 3.00 p.m. SESSION FOUR Word Repositories, Referencing and In-Text Citations
- 3.15 p.m. to 4.15 p.m. SESSION FIVE Writing Bibliography

Session One: This session titled “The Purpose of Research, Formulating Hypothesis, Research Methodology – Designing Aim and Objectives, Conducting Literature Survey, Delineating Limitations, Resourcing Information from different mediums” aimed at acquainting the students with basic structure of conducting research at the TYBA level. Ms. Akshata Bhatt, Assistant Professor, Department of English, Dhempe College was the resource person for the session.

Through Mentimeter, she obtained the students' responses on what research is, and elaborated on the same in her session. She discussed various aspects of a project report such as literature survey, primary texts, chapter schemata etc.

Session Two: This session was titled “Avoiding Plagiarism towards Ethical Research” and was conducted by Ms. Nafisa Oliveira, Assistant Professor, Department of English, Goa University. A post-graduate in law, Ms. Oliveira introduced the concept of plagiarism to the participants and informed them on how to acknowledge sources of information in order to avoid plagiarism. She illustrated how subtle and unintentional plagiarism can get, and that one should be on guard while using seemingly harmless stock phrases.

Session Three: This session titled “Intellectual Property Rights – Relevance and Rubrics” was conducted by Dr. Amol Jadhav, Assistant Professor at Department of Chemistry, Post-Graduate Programme in Analytical Chemistry, Dhempe College of Arts and Science. Dr. Jadhav dealt extensively in his session with patenting and intellectual property rights, a field that has gained significance over the years in academics.

Session Four: Ms. Akshata Bhatt conducted the fourth session of the workshop on “Word Repositories, Referencing and In-Text Citations”. Her presentation focussed on the style of writing research articles and reports; the words to be used to agree, disagree, refute or reinforce a point with references, and how to acknowledge these references according to their placement in research writing according to MLA 8th Edition Stylesheet.

Session Five: This session was an extension to the previous session, titled, “Writing Bibliography”. Ms. Palia Pandit, Assistant Professor, Department of English, Dhempe College conducted this session. As the session was hands-on, students were divided into groups and were asked to identify five different sources they could use for their research, and were asked to write bibliographic entries for them, after referring to the illustrations. They were given links to a Padlet wherein they could write their entries, even after the workshop.

The valedictory session commenced at 4.30 p.m., and Ms. Manjiri Barve, Vice Principal of the college, graced this occasion with her presence. After the vote of thanks by Ms. Clarinda Dias, certificates were distributed to the participants. This followed by a group photograph of the participants and this marked the end of the workshop.

3) Academic Outreach through Lockdown Learning

i) Art and Literature Crossover by faculty member Anjali Mascarenhas

An online series of art inspired by various literary works was started as part of the #DhempeCollegeOutreach and #LockdownLearning. Students and teachers were encouraged to contribute towards this initiative by creating artworks inspired by a favorite book or poem of their choice. The contributions can be viewed on the Facebook Page of the faculty member.

ii) Quiz on Famous Literary Quotes by Dr. Svetlana Fernandes

A multiple choice Quiz was created and shared on Facebook. The correct name of the play/novel had to be chosen by recognizing the quote taken from it.

iii) Video on 'Commonly Confused Words in English' by Dr. Svetlana Fernandes

A Video was created on commonly confused words in English, using powtoon and posted on Facebook. In this video, the meaning of the words and an example of its usage were given.

iv) Amateur Astronomy by Palia Pandit

The national lockdown revived interest in the hobbies of stargazing and amateur astronomy. Telescope images and astrophotography carried out during the lockdown period were posted on personal Instagram account (username: @theidealescapist). Additional information on the celestial bodies in focus was also provided along with the post. The college Instagram account was tagged and the hashtags #LockdownLearning #DhempeCollegeOutreach was added to each of these posts.

v) #PicturePoetry by Akshata Bhatt

Studies claim that owing to pan-globe lockdown, a lot of environmental issues caused by increased anthropogenic interference are getting addressed and rectified. In general too, it has been observed that due to the sudden slowing down of activities, people have started paying more attention to the immediate environment around them. In order to give an expression to this ecological consciousness, the PicturePoetry Challenge was hosted on the faculty member's Instagram and Facebook handles. The faculty member clicked a picture of a hornbill spotted at an orchard and wrote a poem on it. The readers were asked to do something similar by photographing any element of nature and writing a poem on it. Various participants from different walks of life participated in the challenge and wrote poems in the languages of English and Konkani.

7. Dr Roshida Rodrigues Written the following articles on the importance of environment during the lockdown period on social media through FACEBOOK as part of lockdown outreach programme of College.

1. Value of nature and rights of future generation on 23rd April, 2020
 2. Know thyself on 21st April, 2020.
 3. Environment and Stewardship theory on 20th April, 2020.
8. MsSendra Pereira department of Philosophy Conducted online awareness on Facebook on 'seed saving,seeds sharing-seeds have life under lockdown on 22nd April2020.Awareness was created on importance of Seeds saving and seeds sharing' in the post it was stated that every seed around us is 'life' in itself, it Has potential to actualize itself and to be reason to feed, re-grow, multiply and to overall maintain the balance in nature, due to capitalization most of our farmers have shifted to monoculture which led to loss of our traditional seeds of native homes which in turn has affected the nutrition. Seed is created to renew, to multiply, to be shared, and to spread. Seed is life itself "The desire to save seeds comes from an ethical urge to defend life's evolution". I am highly inspired by the work of Dr.Vandana Shiva who is Trained in physics and philosophy, She is renowned for her activism against GMOs, globalization, and patents on seeds and traditional foods. She co-founded Navdanya, which promotes seed saving and organic farming. Navdanya has also set up a learning center, Bija Vidyapeeth (School of the Seed / Earth University).Seed is the biggest issue around democracy in food. Seed is a common resource, and we have to protect it for future generations. During COVID 19 pandemic when everything is on standby food is the most important thing we needed, food is basic necessity,food is from seeds and land and nature, if consuming food is the issue of whole world than why only few hands to produce it? Let's save seeds from our fruits and vegetables.Try to grow some in our garden and share with each other this 'symbol of life: Seed'.

9. As our Concern for animals and birds MsSendra Pereira Dept of Philosophy with
